1st International Conference on Nanofluids (ICNF) and

2nd European Symposium on Nanofluids (ESNf).

Universitat Jaume I (Castelló, Spain), 26-28th June.

Before the conference:

Castelló is a city on the East coast of Spain. With around 180.000 inhabitants, everything is easily reachable by foot or public transport. The city is surrounded by orange tree fields, the beautiful mountains of El Desert de les Palmes, and the Mediterranean Sea, and the weather is generally excellent to enjoy them!

How to get to Castelló? (<http://www.icnf2019.com/index.php/venue/getting-to-castello>)

From Valencia Airport (VLC): Metro lines 3 and 5 from Aeroport to Xàtiva stop (20min aprox.). Walk out of the metro station to Estació del Nord (Train station, right next to it). Take the Cercanías 🚆 train to Castellón.

Check the train timetable: <http://www.renfe.com/EN/viajeros/cercanias/valencia/index.html>

From Barcelona Airport (BCN): Rodalies train 🚆 (line R2N), from Aeroport to Barcelona-Sants.

Check the train timetable: <http://www.renfe.com/EN/viajeros/cercanias/barcelona/>

Then take the train from Barcelona-Sants to Castelló. You can use the ICNF 2019 30% train discount when booking (see Annex of this document)

Book train tickets here: <http://www.renfe.com/EN/viajeros/index.html>

From Madrid Airport (MAD): Bus line 203 or Cercanías 🚆 train line C1 from the airport to Atocha. Then take the train from Madrid-Puerta de Atocha to Castellón. You can use the ICNF 2019 30% train discount when booking (see Annex of this document)

Book train tickets here: <http://www.renfe.com/EN/viajeros/index.html>

From Castelló Airport (CDT): There is a bus service approximately 30 min after every landing. Booking is required, and the bus is especially for each flight so in case of delay it is very likely that it will wait for the passengers. ## Once in Castelló:

How to move around?

In Castelló everything is easily reachable by foot or public transport. To get to the ICNF the main option is taking the only TRAM line that connects the university with the city. You can buy the tickets directly to the driver and its cost is 1.05€ for a single journey.

Pay attention when taking the TRAM from university, normally they cover the whole route up to the coast, but sometimes at rush hour a reinforcement line that only goes up to Parque Ribalta is added. If your accommodation is in the city centre (e.g. Hotel Intur, Hotel Real or NH Castellón Mindoro) or if you want to go to the beach, make sure the TRAM line destination is "Grau".
